Fake Accident, Real Robbery

Criminals target cars on Kodagu-Mysuru-Bengaluru Highway, Yelwal bypass road, between Srirangapatna and Mandya

Mysuru, Nov. 27 (RK&BCT)- There seems to be a new modus-operandi being employed by robbers and fraudsters — to fake an accident, waylay unsuspecting motorists, mostly lone drivers and tell them that their vehicle has hit them and they need to be taken to a hospital. The victims are later robbed of cash "to settle the matter."

The criminals seem to particularly target long-distance vehicles that travel either from Kodagu to Bengaluru or Mangaluru to Bengaluru on National Highway 275. They identify their potential victims from outstation destination through vehicle registration numbers and later target them. Such incidents are rampant on the Mysuru-Bengaluru Highway and the Yelwal Bypass Road that connects Srirangapatna and in the past too, many mugging cases have been reported.

Last Thursday, Muddappa from Kodagu District, who works in Bengaluru, was waylaid and robbed of Rs. 30,000 by two bike-borne men who faked an accident. A shocked Muddappa did not file a Police complaint as he wanted to wriggle out of the situation.

Highway robbery prevention

- Keep your car in gear, doors locked, windows rolled up
- Stay alert and be aware of your surroundings, especially at intersections and stop lights.
- Separate your sources of cash; never all in one wallet
- Call the Police immediately after the incident
- Keep pepper spray ready to counter robbers

Rs. 2 crore poll cash seized near Bilikere

Money stuffed in two bags inside vehicle

Personnel from Central Industrial Security Force (CISF), Police and other forces from Vellore and Krishnagiri in Tamil Nadu conducted a route march in Hunsur Town last evening to instil confidence among voters for the ensuing by-polls on Dec. 5.

Mysuru, Nov. 27 (BCT)- In a major seizure of cash, Mysuru District Election Officials have confiscated Rs. 2 crore unaccounted cash that was being transported to Hunsur from Mysuru in a vehicle. The cash was stuffed inside two bags. By-election to Hunsur constituency is scheduled on Dec. 5 and poll officials are suspecting that the cash was being transported to be distributed to voters.

The cash was seized late last night at Manuganahalli Check Post between Yelwal and Bilikere. Duty-bound election officers intercepted a Bolero at the Check Post. On inspection, the officials found two huge bags. When they opened the bags, they found wads of currency notes stuffed inside the bags.

Two persons, who were travelling in the vehicle, claimed that they were the employees attached to Mysuru-Chamarajanagar District Central Cooperative Bank (MCDCC) and they were transporting the cash to Periyapatna branch of the Bank.

The officials got suspicious as a huge amount was being transported without any mandatory security. Normally when such huge cash is transported from one bank to other, the vehicle is accompanied by a gunman. During inspection, the officials found that the cash was without any documents. Also the explanation given by the MCDCC staff was not convincing.

The amount has been seized and the bank authorities have been told to produce documents in support of their claim. Notices have been issued to the Bank officials asking them to produce relevant documents.

Assaults on aam aadmi glorified

Vulnerability to assaults by alien marauders of people hosted by the region that used to be described as Indian sub-continent until its some parts were bestowed distinct identity as countries namely Burma (now Myanmar), Ceylon (now Sri Lanka) and Nepal (the only Hindu Kingdom in the world) has a history of several centuries, given the two major episodes in which Afghans figured first and Mughals subsequently. The British entered the region as traders and ruled over the land for nearly 150 years about which pages of history are replete with details. To cut a long story short, while the fallout of the alien reigns over the land, which doesn't need to be expressed in words, is a virtual legacy that is being experienced as terrorism, a glorified term for all the anti-people and anti-nation acts by misguided outfits engaged by not only the country's undesirable neighbouring country but also by those who are best identified as traitors, living fearlessly in society across the country.

The equation between the outfits disrupting orderly life of the mass of lay people in the country and the latter sections of its headcount in numerical terms clearly confers strength to the people at large to rein in the trouble-makers. But, lack of will, fear, selfishness and apathy on the part of the land's masses have unarguably served the cause of the anti-people outfits.

The feature of people living in fear of assault from the tribes instigated by the clerics and ideologues of too-well-known faiths and beliefs has glorified them as terrorists and their whole-time preoccupation as terrorism, giving them a surcharged sense of pride and heroism. Until the victims of the virtually unstoppable acts of disrupting peace and order in the land from the miscreants rise from their lethargy and slumber, taking the latter head-on, the so-called terrorism shall progress to unmanageable dimensions. According to the Sydney-based Institute for Economics and Peace, a report by which agency has been published by a widely read daily a few days ago, India is the 7th most affected by terror in the world, the most affected being Afghanistan claiming nearly 7,400 lives of lay people.

Dealing with the faith-driven bigots instigated by the respective clerics and equipped with armoury by alien sources with kid gloves by the Government of the day with the masses choosing to remain unconcerned doesn't qualify to be strategy to end the reign of the traitors, glorified as terrorists. The country's law-keeping machinery also needs to be well-oiled and people support.

This raw turkey is actually a delicious cake

London: English cake artist Sarah Hardy, using her experience as a wax sculpture artist, is able to mold layers of sponge cake, chocolate and sugar or marzipan icing into all kinds of realistic designs, from human organs to birds and frogs. The turkey in the picture is not actually raw meat, skin and bones, but an edible cake made of sponge, butter cream and marzipan.

Sarah has been making her eerily-realistic raw turkey cake for at least four years now, and she even has a tutorial on how to make one yourself on her official website, but her unique creation only went viral this month, after being featured in a now viral video by Food Insider.

Turkey cake has a sponge and butter cream base, with smaller pieces "glued" on with cream to highlight the wings and drumsticks. Once the general shape is completed, the artist attaches dozens of marzipan bits to create the plucked skin effect once the thin layer of marzipan icing is added.

Get a fish pedicure while you eat

Yogyakarta: If you are interested in fish nibbling at your toes while you enjoy some traditional Indonesian cuisine, check out this unique restaurant in Indonesia's cultural capital of Yogyakarta.

Located far away from the city center, the Soto Cokro Kembang restaurant originally relied on a relaxing flower garden to attract patrons exhausted by the stress of urban life. However, when the owner's father had the idea of turning the abandoned cow stalls nearby into a unique aquatic eating space, no one imagined that the quaint eatery would end up attracting people from all around the island nation.

The fish pedicure restaurant is located quite far from the main road from Yogyakarta, but the power of social media and people's curiosity have been so great that the place has been struggling to cope with the attention.

Establish centralised public grievances cell online for rail passengers

Sir,

It is given to understand that Indian Railways has established a centralised public grievances redressal mechanism through various social media channels and portals like Rail Madad and CPGRAMS.

A passenger can lodge grievance/suggestions through any of the channels including online portal and get a resolution based on the nature of the complaint/suggestion.

The instant feedback mechanism through social media channels and portals ensure seamless connectivity between the Railways and the passengers.

Presently, out of 18 Railway Zones only three Zones — namely Southern Railway at Chennai Central, South Central Railway at Secunderabad and Central Railway at Mumbai — have a dedicated public grievances cell functioning under a Nodal Officer and handles the grievances through a dedicated email id. The direct email channel thus provides an ample scope to reach out to a wider audience to otherwise disseminate public information and also understand the day-to-day issues faced by the passengers.

Further, it is suggested to establish a centralised public grievances cell through a dedicated email id, apart from existing channels, across all the Zonal Headquarters. This cell can function with a Nodal Officer designated only to handle complaints received through emails but for the issues pertaining to respective zones and divisions.

The email as a communication channel will thus help in effective disposal of complaints/grievances/feedback received at the Zonal-level itself thereby resulting in efficient day-to-day Railway administration.

'Youth should go after work, not religion'

Mysuru, Nov.27 (RKB&US)- "The present day youths are going behind religion and not work which should be changed," opined Sri Nijagunaprabhu Thontadarya Swamiji.

He was speaking after releasing the New Year calendar and diary brought out by 'Law Guide' Kannada legal monthly magazine at the function organised on Monday at Mysore District Journalists Association (MDJA) here.

Sri Nijagunaprabhu Thontadarya Swamiji

The Swamiji contended that Law and Constitution would have a real value if people behave true to their conscience. A confrontation is on regarding what is important for the nation. Law is not just confined to a court but present at home, bus stand and in business. The imbalance in society should be removed upholding the Constitution. The country should see an end to defection politics. Any Government should carry on for five years without allowing tax-payers' money to be wasted by holding elections unnecessarily, opined the Swamiji.

Former Minister A. Manju said that he too comes from a legal fraternity and pointed out that legal profession should provide justice for the common people. He suggested lawyers to win the confidence of the clients.

Achievers Sunitha, S. Anand Kumar, Chandramouli, Vishal Raghu and Amshi Prasanna Kumar were felicitated.

Retired Judge C.G. Hunagund Law Guide Editor H.N. Venkatesh and others were present.

Uddhav Thackeray to take oath as Maharashtra CM tomorrow

"Ghar-wapsi" for Ajit Pawar after his brief rebellion against uncle Sharad Pawar

Mumbai, Nov.27 (UNI)- Buoyed by the success of the Shiv Sena-NCP-Congress combine to wrest power from the BJP in a dramatic twist to the month-long saga in the State, which saw Devendra Fadnavis resign as the Chief Minister after Ajit Pawar pulled the plug, the Uddhav Thackeray-led party was ready to hold the reins of the State that has Mumbai — India's financial powerhouse — as its capital.

The Sena-NCP-Congress combine last evening elected Uddhav Thackeray as its nominee for Maharashtra Chief Minister's post, following which their leaders met Governor Bhagat Singh Koshyari and staked claim to form Government of the "Maharashtra Vikas Aghadi." This morning, Uddhav Thackeray and wife Rashmi met Governor Koshyari at Raj Bhavan in Mumbai.

Maharashtra CM Devendra Fadnavis resigned after the Supreme Court ordered him to prove his majority immediately. Ajit Pawar, who had failed to make good on his promise of pulling in NCP MLAs to help the BJP reach a majority, quit soon after.

Last evening, Shiv Sena-NCP-Congress combine submitted a letter claiming support of 166 MLAs to the Governor. The Governor, in a letter addressed to Uddhav Thackeray, asked him to submit a "list" of "majority support in the Assembly" by Dec.3.

"I have noted that Maharashtra 'Vikas Aghadi' has 166 number of elected members," the letter released by Raj Bhavan said.

Oath taking at 6.40 pm

It further said that since Uddhav is not a member of the Maharashtra Legislature, he will have to become member within six months after taking oath as the CM. Uddhav Thackeray will take oath as the Chief Minister at 6.40 pm on Nov.28 (tomorrow) at the Shivaji Park in Dadar.

Earlier, NCP Chief Sharad Pawar had announced at a joint meeting of the three parties that swearing-in of the new Government will take place on Dec.1, but the schedule was apparently changed late night.

Thackeray, who would be the first member of his family to occupy the top political post in the State, said his Government will not be vindictive. "I will go to Delhi to meet my 'elder brother' after the Government is formed," he said, referring to Prime Minister Narendra Modi who had called him "my younger brother" during campaign rallies.

"I had never dreamed of leading the State. I would like to thank (Congress President) Sonia Gandhi and others," Uddhav Thackeray said.

Ajit Pawar back in NCP fold

Meanwhile, Nationalist Congress Party's (NCP) Ajit Pawar was received after his brief rebellion against his uncle Sharad Pawar with a warm hug from his daughter Supriya Sule as she welcomed MLAs of the NCP before their oath in the Maharashtra Assembly this morning.

Supriya even touched the feet of Ajit Pawar, whose "ghar-wapsi" or homecoming brought about the collapse of Devendra Fadnavis' 80-hour BJP Government.

"I had said earlier also, I am in the NCP and I will remain in the NCP. There is no reason to create confusion," Ajit Pawar told reporters.

Sharad Pawar's wife convinced Ajit Pawar

Pratibha Pawar, Sharad Pawar's wife, prevailed upon the rebel Ajit Pawar to return to the fold, sources close to the family said. "He (Ajit Pawar) has tremendous respect for Pratibha Tai and cannot turn a deaf ear to her pleas," said sources.

According to the sources, Pratibha weighed in with Ajit because she did not want a split in the family and was anguished about fingers being pointed at her husband over Ajit Pawar's rebellion. "Pratibha Tai was very anguished that Saheb's (Sharad Pawar's) credibility was being questioned. She went to meet Ajit Pawar on her own," sources added.

Bribe for payment of Contractor bill

ZP Engineer sentenced to 11-year imprisonment

Mysuru, Nov.27 (RK&KS)- A City Court has sentenced an Assistant Executive Engineer (AEE) of the Zilla Panchayat (ZP), who was caught while receiving a bribe of Rs.1 lakh, to 11 years jail and has imposed a fine of Rs.1.35 lakh on him.

The AEE, who has been sentenced, is J.E. Manohar of the Rural Drinking Water Supply and Sanitation Division in the ZP.

On Mar.6, 2015, Manohar was caught by the Lokayukta Police, while he was accepting a bribe of Rs.1 lakh from Jagadish, a First Class Contractor of K.R. Nagar, towards the release of the pending amount of Rs.3,99,394 pertaining to drinking water supply works undertaken by him (Jagadish).

Contractor Jagadish, who had undertaken the works at Kowlanahalli village in Periyapatna taluk at a cost of Rs.8 lakh, had produced a bill for the payment of the balance amount after the completion of the works.

When Jagadish met AEE Manohar and sought the payment for the bill, Manohar asked Rs.1.5 lakh bribe to release the money and later demanded Rs.1 lakh bribe following which Jagadish lodged a complaint with Lokayukta Police.

Based on the complaint, Lokayukta Inspector Mathew Thomas and staff Gopikrishna and Suresh Kumar caught Manohar while he was accepting the bribe from Contractor Jagadish. The Lokayukta Police, after conducting investigations, had submitted a charge-sheet to the Court.

City's Third District and Sessions Court Judge Bharat Kumar, who is also the Special Lokayukta Judge, heard the arguments, found Engineer Manohar guilty and sentenced him to five year imprisonment and a fine of Rs.60,000 under Section 7 of Prevention of Corruption Act and six years imprisonment and a fine of Rs.75,000 under Section 13(1) (D).

Karnataka Lokayukta Special Prosecutor Kaliyanda Muthamma Poonacha argued on behalf of the Government.

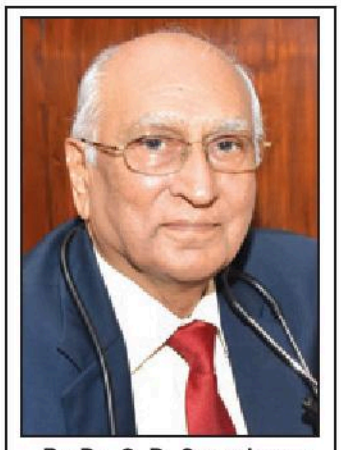
"We The People"— Part-2

The Man who (literally) wrote India's Constitution — Prem Behari Narain Raizada



By Dr. C. D. Sreenivasa Murthy

Calligrapher Prem Behari Raizada at work.

Dr. Rajendra Prasad greeting Dr. B.R. Ambedkar (left).

When Nehru asked Prem Behari Raizada, he refused any payment for his hard and patient work. But he had one important request. He wanted to write his name on every page of the Constitution and on the last page write his name along with his grandfather's name. Granting his request, the Government of India entrusted with Prem Behari the prestigious job of writing the Constitution in beautiful calligraphy.

Dr. B.R. Ambedkar, the Chairman of the Drafting Committee of the Constitution, is very well- known as its architect, but very little is known about the man who literally penned the Constitution. When the draft of the Constitution of India was ready to be printed, Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru wanted it to be handwritten in a flowing italic style. He approached the renowned calligrapher Prem Behari Raizada with the proposal of hand-writing the Constitution.

Prem Behari was born in 1901 and came from a family of traditional calligraphists. He lost his parents when he was very young and was brought up by his grandfather Ram Parshad Saxena and uncle Mahashya Chatur Behari Narayan Saxena. Prem Behari's grandfather was a scholar in Persian and an accomplished calligrapher, and he taught him calligraphy. Calligraphy is the art of producing decorative handwriting or lettering with a pen or brush.

When Nehru asked Raizada, he refused any payment for his hard and patient work. But he had one important request. He wanted to write his name on every page of the Constitution and on the last page write his name along with his grandfather's name. Granting his request, the Government of India entrusted with Prem Behari the prestigious job of writing the Constitution in beautiful calligraphy. He was allotted a room in the Constitution Hall which later came to be known as Constitution Club.

The original manuscript of the Constitution was written on parchment sheets measuring 16X22 inches, and these have a lifespan of a thousand years. The finished manuscript consisted of 251 pages and weighed 3.75 kg. In all, 432 pen holder nibs were used by Prem Behari for this calligraphy-writing of the Indian Constitution.

The hand-written Constitution is also a work of art. The famous painter Nandalal Bose and his students designed the borders of every page and adorned them with beautiful art pieces, in the miniature style. The "Preamble" page was done by Beohar Rammanohar Sinha. They depicted some scenes from our national history. In doing so, they have created in the hand-written pages a gallery of some of the greatest figures of our national history.

The Vedic period is represented by a scene of Gurukula, and the epic period by a visual of Rama, Sita and Lakshmana returning homeward and another of Krishna propounding the Gita to Arjuna on the battlefield.

There is a beautiful line drawing of Nataraja, as depicted in the Chola Bronze tradition. Then there are depictions of the lives of the Buddha and Mahavira, followed by scenes from the courts of Ashoka and Vikramaditya. Other great figures of our history who are represented are Akbar, Shivaji, Guru Gobind Singh, Tipu Sultan and Rani Lakshmibai.

But it was the single-handed effort of Prem Behari Narain Raizada (Saxena) that brought to life the primary contents and the preamble to the Constitution. This manuscript was signed by the members of the Constituent Assembly on 24th January 1950. It was first signed by Dr. Rajendra Prasad, the first President of India, while the last to sign in was Feroze Gandhi, the then President of the Constituent Assembly.

[The third part of "We The People" article titled "Interesting facts about the Constitution of India" will be published in SOM tomorrow]

Men stop vehicle

Speaking to Star of Mysore this morning, Muddappa said that he was heading towards Bengaluru in his car at 9.45 am on Nov. 21 and reached Srirangapatna. As he was proceeding towards Baburayanakoppalu near Kirangur Circle he heard a 'thud' sound. "Between Baburayanakoppalu and Kirangur, two men followed my car on a bike and repeatedly signalled me to stop. While the person who was riding the bike was well-built, the other one was lanky and tall," Muddappa narrated.

Faking fracture

Both were wearing skull caps and asked Muddappa to stop the vehicle. "I obliged and stopped. The well-built man claimed that my car had hit the lanky fellow and he needed urgent treatment. He claimed that the other person fell off his bike when my car hit him and had fractured his shoulder. But there were no other injuries and even his clothes were not torn. I realised that he was lying and I told him that they should go to the Police," he said.

The men instead told Muddappa that the "accident victim" needed urgent medical treatment. "The other person was acting as if he was gasping for breath and was in great trauma, constantly chatting God's names. The man who was negotiating with me went to a house asking for water to be given to the other man. He fed him water and was asking me to take him to a nearby hospital," Muddappa narrated.

Demand for Rs. 1 lakh

Muddappa reluctantly agreed but insisted that they should go to the Police. He, however, later conceded to the demand of medical attention and agreed to foot the hospital bill. "The man then demanded Rs. 1 lakh and his tone had suddenly changed. When I told him that I did not have so much of cash, he told me that there was an ATM nearby. I realised that I am being conned. There was no one else on the road and I wanted to escape from the scene and I was in a hurry to reach Bengaluru. I paid Rs. 30,000 cash that I had with me and left the place," Muddappa said.

Later in Bengaluru when he narrated the incident to his friends, he was told that a retired Colonel and one Suresh, both residents of Kodagu were robbed on the same road sometime back and the modus operandi was similar.

24/7 patrol on Highway

Reacting on the incident, Mysuru Additional SP Sneha said that the District Police had an exclusive Highway Patrol team on the Mysuru-Periyapatna Road. "The Srirangapatna incident does not come under my jurisdiction but we will tighten the patrol and will inform the surveillance teams to increase vigil," she said.

Sneha called upon the victims to file a Police complaint. "Unless a complaint is filed, we cannot investigate the case. In the past we have caught many robbers after the victims filed complaints," she added.

D.K. Shivakumar visits Mysuru Bar Association to thank advocates

Mysuru, Nov.27 (MTY&DM)- Over a month after he was released from a Delhi jail following his arrest by the Enforcement Directorate (ED) in connection with a money-laundering case, Kanakapura Congress MLA and former Minister D.K. Shivakumar visited the Mysuru Bar Association Office in the City Courts Complex this morning to express gratitude to the Association for extending moral support to him during his trial.

Speaking to presspersons, Shivakumar said that he was grateful to Mysuru lawyers for all the valuable support that they extended to him during his troubled times. Thanking the Mysuru Bar Association for standing by him, Shivakumar said that he was sorry for coming late to express gratitude. Stating that he knew who made the allegations against him, he said that he would not say anything about it now, but will disclose all the conspiracies at the right moment.

Claiming that he is keenly observing the statements being made by leaders from all political parties in the run-up to the by-polls, he said that he would not like to comment on them now and right now he was only praying for the well-being of the State.

Regretting that of late politicians are getting little respect, Shivakumar underlined the need for a selfless debate on issues concerning the State.

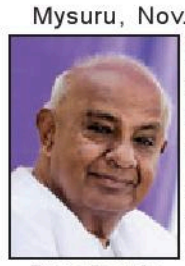
Replying to a query on his not-so-enthusiastic campaign for the bypolls, Shivakumar merely said that he was going to Hunsur now to campaign for Congress candidate H.P. Manjunath. Former MLAs Vasu and H.P. Manjunath, former MP R. Dhruvanarayan, Hanur MLA R. Narendra, Mysuru Bar Association President S. Anand Kumar and other office-bearers were present.

HC adjourns plea by mother, wife of DKS

The Delhi High Court on Tuesday adjourned the hearing on the pleas filed by mother and wife of D.K. Shivakumar (DKS) in connection with a money laundering case, to Dec.4.

As soon as the hearing came up, the Enforcement Directorate sought more time for putting forward arguments, following which the court adjourned the hearing till Dec.4.

Congress, JD(S) can't go together: HDD



Deve Gowda

Mysuru, Nov.27 (RK&DM)- Dismissing widespread speculations that Congress and JD(S) have reached a tacit understanding to ensure the defeat of disqualified legislators who are contesting the Dec.5 bypolls on BJP tickets, JD(S) Supremo and former Prime Minister H.D. Deve Gowda (HDD) maintained that the Congress and JD(S) cannot go together.

Speaking to presspersons at Government Guest House in Nazarbad here this morning, Deve Gowda said that although the objective of both parties were the same, the two cannot go together.

Accusing the BJP of spending huge money for winning elections, he alleged that as the BJP is the ruling party nobody was willing to take action against the party for poll code violations and electoral malpractices.

Stating that former Congress CM Siddharamaiah is carrying out a brisk campaign in all the 15 Assembly segments, the former PM said that he and his son H.D. Kumaraswamy too have been campaigning within their limits and they were unable to catch up with Siddharamaiah when it came to campaigning.

He lashed out at Hunsur BJP candidate A.H. Vishwanath for saying that HDD remains in his heart forever. Deve Gowda said that Vishwanath's statement was merely a political stunt aimed at winning back sympathy of voters.

Claiming that the people were are wise enough to understand tantrums of Vishwanath, he ridiculed the claims of Chief Minister B.S. Yediyurappa that the BJP would win all the 15 seats. When asked about the post-poll political scenario, he said a lot depended on results.

Referring to Maharashtra politics, he opined that the political scenario in the country would change completely if the Shiv Sena-NCP-Congress coalition successfully completes the five-year term.

Reiterating that the success of the coalition Government in Maharashtra holds the key for the unity of opposition parties, he stressed on the need to end single party rule for long and for the election of a federal Government, involving regional parties and local outfits. MLA S.R. Mahesh, MLC S.L. Bhojegowda, former mayor R. Lingappa and others were present.

The JD(S) Supremo, who arrived in the city last night by road from Bengaluru, stayed overnight at the Government Guest House and left for Bilikere.

In this week's Pet Talk,
Maneka explains about bathing rabbit, rehydrating a bird and what an unqualified person can do for a healthy delivery of puppies

Pet Talk

Maneka Gandhi

What is something people do with their cats that they should absolutely not be doing?

• Never declaw a cat. It is inhumane and torture for them for their whole lives.

• Never hit, strike, kick, or in any way attempt to hurt a cat. They are defenceless creatures that rely on their human caretakers. This behaviour, whatever your so called reason for it, is abuse.

• Not spaying/ neutering their cat. You are reducing the stray population by fixing them, and you are also helping to prevent them from getting certain cancers.

• Finding obesity cute. Your cat is suffering. He cannot bathe himself properly, he is likely to be headed very quickly for diabetes and other diseases.

• Never have a healthy animal put down. If you can no longer afford them you still have a duty of care to find them a new home, and ensure they continue to have a good life.

• Putting off veterinary treatment for a sick or injured cat. I don't care how, but you get that cat treated. Borrow money or get help from animal welfare.

Is it true that bathing a rabbit in water can be harmful to the rabbit?

Rabbits have a fear of water (naturally). However, this is not the case with all the rabbits and, especially in summer days, some may actually like relaxing in water for some time.

Rabbits are a self cleaning breed with dense coats which, once wet, cannot be easily dried.

Making them bathe would not only lead to fur-fall, but can also cause a heart-attack (during extreme cases).

Their digestive system can also get troubled and it can lead to loose motions which prove fatal.

Apart from all these reasons, water entering their ears and causing infection is also one of the reasons rabbit owners are asked to keep them away from water.

In case of non-availability of a veterinary doctor, what can an unqualified person do for a healthy delivery of puppies?

The signs of dog labour:

• She becomes restless.
• She stops eating up to 24 hours before labour.
• She may paw at her bedding, as if preparing a nest.
• She starts licking her vulva.
• She may vomit or discharge mucus.

Supplies to have on hand:

• Whelping box.
• A laundry basket lined with a heating pad and a blanket.
• A stack of clean towels.
• Emergency supplies.

When you see a greyish sac drop from the vulva, this means that there's a puppy on the way! The mother should pass the first puppy within an hour of the sac appearing. If she doesn't, it's time to call the vet to discuss whether to bring her in. Here are a few things that you might have to do following each puppy's birth, if the mother doesn't do them herself.

Remove the membrane: Puppies are born in a thin membrane that looks like plastic wrap, which needs to be removed within six minutes so the pup doesn't suffocate. Normally, the mother will do this immediately. If she doesn't, then you'll have to break the membrane yourself.

Rub the puppy with a towel: Right after the membrane comes off, the mother dog will normally lick the puppy, which will stimulate it to breathe and cry. If she doesn't do this, rub the puppy vigorously with a towel until it starts breathing on its own.

Discard the afterbirth: Within five to fifteen minutes after each birth, a mass of blackish-green tissue, called the placenta, or afterbirth, should follow. Once the puppy is born, the placenta is entirely useless. You can discard it.

Cut the umbilical cord: If the momma pup doesn't chew through each umbilical cord on her own, you will have to cut the cord. If you do, be sure to use sterilised scissors. Cut about an inch from the pup's belly.

How to tell when the dog's eyesight becomes weak?

Regardless of your pet's age, vision issues can come into play. Here are some ways to tell if the dog is having a difficult time with his/ her vision.

Toy test: Take their favourite toy, or treat, and see how far you can get before they no longer know it's there (Don't use a bright or distinctive colour, or shape, because they might recognise even when they can't really see it). Another method involves simply paying attention to when they can recognise a friend walking towards them from a distance. Remember dogs have a good sense of smell and can recognise the smell even when they can't see the person.

Contact the vet: In any case of suspected vision problem, visit the vet. You may need to see a specialist. Your Veterinarian will usually refer you to one right away for a full evaluation. New strides in treating vision loss can mean diet changes, medications, cataract surgery .

What's that on the eyes?: Notice a fuzziness in, or on, her eyes? Sometimes pets can see perfectly through, or around, these opacities, but not usually. Typically, it's evidence of vision loss.

Night vision test: Night vision is often the first to go. But that's hard to know because you're not exactly watching your pet when it's dark in the room. And pets don't tend to bump into furniture — they know where it all is.

Can stray dogs which have been sterilised, be relocated to any other place?

The only humane, legal and scientific way of dealing with street dogs is to get them vaccinated and sterilised under the Animal Birth Control (ABC) programme. Under this programme, stray dogs are picked up, neutered, vaccinated against rabies, and released in the respective areas from where they had been captured, which is in accordance with the Animal Birth Control Rules, 2001, framed under section 38 of the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Act, 1960, and as per the orders of Supreme Court of India. There is scientific thought behind restoring a sterilised dog to his original habitat. Dogs are territorial animals. They mark out their territories based on the food available, and they do not let outsiders come in. When these local dogs are removed from their territory, other dogs move in to occupy them. These may not be sterilised, so the problem continues for that locality. Dog fights increase, as any new dog entering a territory is attacked by the dogs already in that area, and non-sterilised dogs continue to mate and produce litters.

How to rehydrate a dehydrated bird? Should plain water be avoided?

Dehydration is very important to recognise and understand. Most of the sick birds die of dehydration first, before the illness that caused their problem. To dehydrate something is to remove the moisture.

To remedy dehydration, use: Commercial electrolyte fluids, such as Pedialyte; or, mix one pint of water, one pint of Gatorade, 1 teaspoon of honey or Karo syrup, 1 level teaspoon of aluminum-free baking soda (such as "Bob's Red Mill Baking Soda"), 1 level teaspoon table salt.

Caution: Measure with care; inaccurate measurements can cause severe diarrhoea. Orange or cherry juice helps in hydrating your bird. Force-feeding is necessary when the energy levels drop so low that the bird does not eat or drink and is in danger of dying. You may try getting fluids into the sick birds using a dropper.

Crop needling is recommended for those who are confident with the crop needle technique (The crop needle is a blunt needle, or crop tube, passed gently and directly into the crop of the bird). This procedure is technically difficult and should not be undertaken by those who are inexperienced, as it is potentially fatal if done incorrectly.

If the bird is alert then the bird can be given a solution of water, salt and sugar, through an eye dropper, strictly avoiding the nostrils. The fluid should be at room temperature or lukewarm. A cold bird should never be given any fluids. Unflavoured Pedialyte can also be used as an emergency rehydrating substitute. Plain water shouldn't be given unless nothing is available.

Rectify 26 'black spots' in district, save lives: DC

Mysuru, Nov.27 (RK&BCT)- The District Road Safety Committee meeting held in city yesterday took a serious note on the 26 Black Spots identified across the district and safety measures to be taken to avoid accidents.

The meeting, held between the District Administration, National and State Highway officials, Police, Public Works Department (PWD), KSRTC and Transport Department, also took note of growing congestions on city roads and highways.

Deputy Commissioner Abhiram G. Sankar, who chaired the meeting held at his office yesterday, pointed out that vehicle users were in danger in certain sections and asked officials to focus on this.

The National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) identifies 'black spots' — stretches that have become notorious trouble spots for accidents or where accidents have historically been concentrated. In road safety management, an accident black spot or a black spot is a place where road traffic accidents have historically been concentrated.

It may have occurred for a variety of reasons, such as a sharp drop or corner in a straight road, so oncoming traffic is concealed, a hidden junction on a fast road, poor or concealed warning signs at cross-roads. In any given 500-metre stretch, if there are more than 10 accidents in three years that have resulted in loss of lives, such places are called black spots.

Deputy Commissioner Abhiram G. Sankar chairing the District Road Safety Committee meeting in city yesterday.

The DC said that 11 black spots have been identified in the Srirangapatna sub-division, while 10 have been identified in Mandya. He said that the road leading from Sub-urban Bus Stand is often clogged as people going to Irwin Road, Srirangapatna, Taluk Office and other places have to use it.

Also, traffic near the bus stand is usually dense because of the proliferation of bars and restaurants in the vicinity. Similarly, the Bilikere-K.R. Nagar route and the T. Narsipur-Kollegal Road too have high traffic density and movement, leading to accidents.

Officials in the meeting said that there is perpetual traffic congestion near Field Marshal K.M. Cariappa Circle (Metropole Circle), Sharadadevinagar Circle and near Hinkal Flyover.

Calling upon officials to personally inspect all the black spots and take corrective measures to avoid accidents, he said, "Many black spots are due to road engineering defects and gradients. Measures like scientific road humps, warning boards and reflective mirrors can be installed to prevent accidents."

He also directed the officials to take measures to reduce accident rate. Coordination with Police, RTO KSRTC, NHAI and State Highway Authorities is a must to solve the problem of accidents and black spots, the DC rued.

On the steep curve near Navodaya School in Gaddige (Bogadi), officials said that it is an accident-prone area and there is an urgent need to set up a road divider there. Also, road dividers must be installed on Belavadi-Hootagalli Road as there is a high traffic density in both the directions.

Onion becomes tearfully dearer at Rs.100 a kg

Mysuru, Nov.27 (US)- Price of onion, the essential vegetable in Indian household, has hit the roof touching Rs.100 and beyond per kg in city forcing customers to shed tears even before buying and chopping the vegetable. The steep rise in price is attributed by traders to shortfall in supply from North Karnataka and Maharashtra, the prominent source of onion. The deficit is obviously due to the recent rains and floods. Onion was being sold at Rs.120 a kg at a few malls in city yesterday forcing the customers to reduce the quantity of purchase. A few customers were seen vowing to give up onion till the price drops to normal range.

Wholesale rate: The wholesale rate of big size onion is over Rs.7,700 a quintal. Transportation cost and wastage coupled with inclusion of a small profit margin pushes up the price in the retail market to Rs.100 and beyond a kg, according to traders.

Situation to continue: Gadag in Karnataka produces the maximum quantity of onion. Heavy rains in that region in the recent times has completely destroyed the crops. The same destruction has also taken place in Nasik, Maharashtra, hailed as the capital of onion cultivation. Till the new crop begins to give yield, the same high price situation is likely to prevail everywhere, opine the wholesale traders at Bandipalya.

Disturbed kitchen: Onion is almost inevitable for Upma and curry and leaving out the vegetable would definitely hamper the taste and acceptance by members of the family will be very difficult.

With a heavy heart and regret, onion has begun to vanish from the shelves of kitchen in many homes. Perhaps, a few connoisseurs unable to give up onion so easily, have reduced the consumption to 25% of the regular quantity to beat the price.

Traders also hit: Not just the consumers, the traders too are hit by the price rise. Small traders fear to invest money on the expensive onion as a slight variation in weight while weighing could cumulatively escalate the losses. A few sensible traders have installed boards 'No onions' at their shops.

Onion topples Govt.: It can be recalled that about two decades ago, the price of onion sky-rocketed and the Union Govt. was at the receiving end from irate consumers. The fury and resistance of the people resulted in the ruling party losing in the election held then.

WORD OF THE DAY

Retinue

Pronunciation: RET-uh-noo.

Meaning: A group of retainers or attendants.
Origin: Retinue derives via Middle English from the Anglo-French verb retenir, meaning "to retain." Another word deriving from retenir is retainer, which means, among other things, "one who serves a person of high position or rank." In the 14th century, that high person of rank was usually a noble or a royal of some kind, and retinue referred to that person's collection of servants and companions. Nowadays, the word is often used with a bit of exaggeration to refer to the assistants, guards, publicists, and other people who accompany an actor or other high-profile individual in public.
Example: Russian mezzo-soprano Alisa Kolosova, as the duchess who fully expects to marry Rodolfo, enjoyed the Entrance of Entrances, high on the statue of a horse, dressed in royal velvet, and surrounded by a retinue of similarly dressed minions. — Nancy Malitz

THE ODD WORD

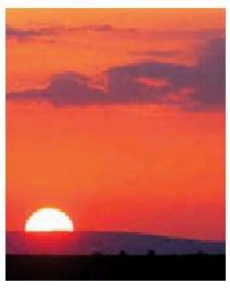
PHRASE OF THE DAY

Red sky at night

Meaning: This is the first part of the weather-lore rhyme:



Red sky at night; shepherds delight,
Red sky in the morning; shepherds warning.
Sometimes the phrase involves sailors rather than shepherds - both have a more than usual interest in the weather.
Origin: The saying is very old and quite likely to have been passed on by word of mouth for some time before it was ever written down. There is a written version in Matthew XVI in the Wyclif Bible, from as early as 1395: "The eeuenynge maad, ye seien, It shal be cleer, for the heuene is lijk to reed; and the morwe, To day tempest, for heuen shyneth heuy, or sorwful." The Authorised Version gives that in a more familiar form: "When it is evening, ye say, It will be fair weather: for the sky is red. And in the morning, It will be foul weather to day: for the sky is red and louring." There are many later citations of the saying in literature, including this from Shakespeare, in Venus & Adonis, 1593: "Like a red morn, that ever yet betoken'd wreck to the seaman - sorrow to shepherds." So, that's where it originated but why? There are many proverbs and stories concerning the weather from medieval England; for example, the notion that the weather on St. Swithin's Day (15th July) predicts the weather in England for the next 40 days:
St Swithin's Day, if it does rain, Full forty days, it will remain
St Swithin's Day, if it be fair, For forty days, t'will rain no more.
